IT'S A TITAN WORLD for us

Amid the confusion . . . "Where's room 112?" . . . Taylor, our TITAN WORLD . . . settling down to classes again . . . football games . . . Homecoming . . . a convo . . . a bomb scare . . . a soc hop . . . a "darkest hour" . . . "Bananas for lunch?" . . . becoming involved in our TITAN WORLD . . . basketball tourney time . . . wild! . . . and proud . . . the Christmas Dance . . . Spring Follies . . . hilarious . . . Easter Break . . . "finals-ugh!" . . . graduation . . . six years to become what I am . . . in a TITAN WORLD.

Sophomores, juniors capture homecoming wins

Homecoming began with Powderpuff football when teachers became coaches, girls became football players, and boys became cheerleaders.

In the first game, the more experienced sophomores overthrew the energetic freshmen 21-6.

Junior Becky Sherrill ran the only touchdown in the second game to give delighted juniors a 6-0 win over seniors.

The "Rinky Dink Tromping Troop" performed the most unusual halftime show of the year. The cheerleaders, boys in wigs, mini-skirts, and lipstick, got whistles from the stands.

On a cold October night hopeful Titan fans formed a long line of decorated cars at Indiana Heights School and honked and yelled their way down Center Road. At Center the marching band joined the caravan and led the way to Taylor Memorial Field for a spirited pep rally. Then as the Frankton Eagles were burned in effigy, chants of "This is Titan Country" and "Eagles Beware" showed that Taylor was eager for the Eagles.

T.I.A.C., freshman class win float competition

After frantic last-minute efforts to turn in plans and locate tractors and wagons, classes and clubs found out how complicated building a float was. Hopeful students spent long hard hours struggling with boards, napkins, and chicken wire. After finishing touches were added, floats paraded around the football field before the homecoming game.

The freshmen's hard-earned efforts paid off as they won their first float contest. The Industrial Arts Club won the club competition for the second consecutive year.

c/The Taylor Industrial Arts Club's Titan Express, engineered by Greg Little, won the prize for the best club float. d/The freshmen put a lot of work into their gigantic class float "Colonel Taylors Fried Eagles."

What a glorious day for Jo Ann DeLong as she smiled gaily after the annual crowning of Homecoming Queen. Her beautiful court consisted of seniors Melissa Ruddell and Jody Sellers, junior Terri Free, sophomore Donna Berndt, and freshman Sharon Sellers.

In addition to the crowning, many other Homecoming festivities occured including a parade of colorful floats, a dancing band, vivacious twirlers, and pom pom girls.

Students celebrated after the Titan's victorious game over the Frankton Eagles at a dance sponsored by the student council. After the dance many couples enjoyed eating at the Casa Grande, Big Wheel, and Pizza Hut.

We got something that you ain't got . . .

. . . and that's SPIRIT: At pep sessions and ball games, students showed school pride by encouraging our athletes.

As Taylor's team began to chalk up wins, pessimistic statements like "Haworth's gonna stomp us!" changed to "If we play a game like we did last week, we're gonna slaughter Eastern!"

Instead of quiet pep sessions, the gym echoed with enthusiasm. T-Club joined in games with yells of their own. The U.B.C. originating in mid-year, involved students in a new surge of spirit. For the first time full buses carried enthusiastic fans to away basketball games. The 1971-72 school year can be remembered as "The Year of Spirit" at Taylor.

Students and fans rejoiced after capturing their first county basketball title. It was an exciting moment for all when the final buzzer sounded and the Titans knew they had won. Taylor, known as the underdogs, had more "going for them" than was expected. Many students from Western and Northwestern rooted our Titans on to a victory. The Titans had more enthusiastic students at the tourney than ever before. For the first time in Taylor's history our players were able to walk off the floor of the county tournament triumphant and happy.

"12 Days of Christmas" features Miss Titan

The seniors used "The 12 Days of Christmas" as their theme for the annual Christmas dance. The Madison Zane, a rock group from Indianapolis, provided music. Santa Claus Mr. Essex and elf Jeff Clarke passed out candy canes.

The crowning of Sherry Wooley as Miss Titan highlighted the evening. Sherry and her court received red roses and led a dance with their dates.

ACTIVITIES

Convos give a welcome relief

On the subject of convocations, Mr. Polk once stated "I know we have some bummers!" However, many convos this year proved to be quite the opposite.

The wide variety of convos included Helio distribution, a show on Nathan Hale, the Boone Family, and many pep sessions.

The most unusual convo in the school's history came before the Howard County Tourney, when the electricity failed. Who can forget sitting in the dark, listening to Mr. Cronk say "This is our darkest hour . . ."

This year several students received awards in both school sports and extra curricular activities.

Many more boys proved their athletic ability by winning awards during the spring and fall athletic banquets. Many boys received certificates, letters, and jackets. But there were a few, like Tony Gabriel and Dennis Bentzler, who received most valuable player trophies. Also, Tony Gabriel received a blanket.

Spring Follies provide frolic entertainment

This year the Spring Follies included twenty-three acts and proved to be much better in its second year. The acts were made up of comedies, singing, instrumentals, and dancing. Almost all grades participated in the different acts. To add to the entertainment, teachers showed their talent by playing musical instruments—flutophones, melodica and bottles. The Follies were enjoyed by the entire student body and faculty.

The traditional International Day once again proved to be a success. It was held March 3, and we welcomed exchange students from different schools throughout the state.

The day's activities included a convo, which gave the exchange students a chance to entertain the student body. There was also a reception and dance sponsored for the exchange students and the student body.

Thespian plays attract "record breaking crowd"

This year proved to be very exciting and rewarding for our Thespians and their sponsor Mrs. Boardman. The fall play Strangers in the night was presented to the jr. high as well as the public. The spring play Curse of an Aching Heart or Trapped in a Spider's Webb was the first melodrama put on in four years. The Friday night performance of the play was a record breaking crowd of over 200 people.

Students meet international art genius

On May 3, many fortunate Taylor students witnessed the amazing work of Mr. Mustafa Naguil. This extremely gifted man is a world renowned sculptor and artist from Egypt. He was able to visit us through an international visitors' program. Mr. Naguil has earned art degrees from academies in Paris, Rome, and Cairo, and has held many important positions in the field of art in Egypt. During his one-day visit, Mr. Naguil created a plaster casting of Philippe Collas's head.

After forming a Cross-Country team four years ago, Coach Jerry Bond now has bettered his previous years' records. He finished with a 6-3 season. Tony Gabriel gave the fans who attended the meets quite a showing.

Scott Pitcher started out the season running in the number 10 spot, but towards the end of the season he was up to third. He was thought to be the most improved runner Coach Bond had. Next year could be an overall improvement, although the team is losing five seniors, with the underclassmen bolstering up some weaknesses.

Freshman footballers recorded an excellent season with a 6-1-1. Coach Sheridan was proud of his 13-8 win over Haworth's three man coached team. Lewis Cass undefeated for three years, finally fell to our strong freshmen.

Coach Ward's eighth graders finished 3-2-1. Larry Kellar and Brian Delph were outstanding during the season and should provide good material for future years.

Seventh grade Coach Freeman succeeded with a first year of both A and B competition. This year was a first for the seventh graders in defeating all three county schools.

In his first year as head basketball coach, Ken Freeman set his sights on a winning season, accomplished his goal, and proved that the Taylor Titans aren't the "county team from the cornfield."

After an opening victory over Marion Bennett, the roundballers fell three times before winning a squeaker against Carroll. At the Howard County Tourney, Taylor eliminated Western 60-48, then captured their first Howard County Tourney by downing undefeated Eastern, 59-57.

Winning six of their last seven games, the team took a second win from Eastern's Comets. They finished the regular season with a victory over Tipton.

In the opening round of the sectional, the never-say-die Titans came from behind to win a victory over Eastern, 65-57. Then the cagers gave Haworth the "scare of their lives" before falling to the Huskies, 67-46.

The team owes its 13-9 record to nine determined boys. Forward Jeff Kennell, named to the all-sectional team, hit 58.9% from the field. Forward Jim Lasley worked well under tourney pressures. Center Gary Rhew led the team in rebounds with 258. Guards Hank Holt and Tony Gabriel held opponents to an average 62 points a game. Keith Myers, Steve Snow, Hank Free, Dennis Bentzler gave good support.

Mason, B. Lasley. (Row 3) Manager J. Doak, J. Moss, D. White, R. Rhew, S. Walter, M. Covey, D. Pizarek, Coach D. Wise.

Although the reserve team didn't have a winning season, the boys gained much experience for future years. The freshman team, coached by Bill Harmeyer, had a 9-6 season and copped the ninth grade Howard County Tourney. The eighth grade A team had a 7-3 record while the B team recorded a 3-1 season. The A team had a 7-3 record while the B team recorded a 3-1 season. The A team stomped Oak Hill, nearly doubling their score.

Both of the seventh grade teams had winning seasons, the A squad carried a 8-3 record while the B team had a 5-2 slate.

Girls cheer, lead, cry, jump, inspire

Cheerleaders contribute much to athletic events. Inspiring fans to yell for their team takes energy, hard work, and practice. The girls are required to practice one night a week after school, but often spend many hours inventing and practicing new yells.

During basketball season cheerblock would be lost without the cheerleaders. They keep the girls yelling the same thing at the same time, and that's what makes the cheerblock really sound great.

The team was plagued with inexperience; however, the veterans made a fine showing all through the season.

Scott Pitcher had a 14-2 season record, the best on the team. He had 21 consecutive dual meet wins. The matmen also finished second to Westfield this year in the Range-Line Conference. Brad Baker had a 15-2 record, outstanding for a first year man.

GAA, Intramurals add fun

Taylor's G.A.A. had the honor of being the most outstanding club in the county. The volleyball team won the Howard County Championship. Individual girls won special awards: Jane Shirley in bowling, Linda Randall and Becky Sherill in Badminton.

Intramural sports provided after school activities for the boys. They formed their own teams and competed against each other in a variety of sports including golf, basketball, ping pong, and volleyball.

Schave, new records sprint to winning season

Ten new records helped the Titan track team to another winning season. Todd Schave, this year's track team MVP, holds four of the ten records. Todd set a new mark in the 440-yard dash, 220-yard dash, long jump, and the most points scored. He also ran on the 880-yard relay team that posted a new record.

Gary Clover set a new record in the pole vault, as did Pete Baker in the high jump, Art Meyer in the low hurdles, Grant Ellabarger in the 100-yard dash, and the mile relay team consisting of Mike Thompson, Phil Cooke, Tony Gabriel, and Stan Eakin.

ACADEMICS

Administrators set high standards

Superintendent Andy Fernung along with our competent school board work hard to make Taylor a very fine school. Under their direction Taylor recently earned a Class A rating.

Principal Bill Britton and Assistant Principal Don Edmonds worked dilligently with department heads to formulate new policies, one of which was the optional final exam for junior and senior students.

This year Assistant Principal Don Edmonds assumed new duties as head of junior high and kept things running smoothly in that area. Activities principal Larry Polk scheduled school activities, including athletics events, and promoted school spirit. Mr. Fernung's secretaries Nada Cunningham and Frances Ahlemeyer efficiently coordinated the Superintendent's office with the rest of the system. Mrs. Ahlmeyer also served as Treasurer for the School Board.

These phrases and many more show how important these people are to our school. They do everything from tallying up daily incomes, feeding hungry students, fixing the air conditioner, and cleaning the gym to bandaging cuts, helping someone find a book, and driving noisy buses.

I.A. provides exploratory experiences

High school industrial arts students develop their talents and interests while gaining a better understanding of industry through electing industrial arts courses.

The program in the junior high provides exploratory experiences for seventh grade girls and boys in communications and for eighth grade boys in materials and manufacturing.

For the first time in Taylor's history, seventh grade girls took six weeks of communications. Practical experiences were gained in sketching, mechanical drawing, printing, and electricity.

Guys gain gourmet touch

The home ec. department offered their first course for boys, Chef's Special. Boys studied cooking terms and made biscuits. Then they moved to such things as eggs, bisque, lasagna, and cakes. The boys prepared an Easter dinner and served at the National Honor Society tea.

Junior high boys also took six weeks of home ec. Other new courses were Interior Decorating, Marriage and Family Living, and History of Clothing Design.

Girls taking home ec. prepared for a faculty tea, a foreign exchange reception, and a style show.

Students enjoy new equipment

Several junior high students are working very hard to improve their language arts and mathematics skills. They also work in shop and home economics to improve their practical arts skills. In addition, art and chorus are offered to help round out their program.

To speak, lire, escriber

Speaking, reading, and writing are the things language students try to perfect.

Writing a theme on football, reading Macbeth, acting out "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky," and expressing ideas in class were all part of English and literature classes.

Spanish and French were offered as electives in the foreign language department. Mr. Clark's French classes learned common expressions, then studied the culture and ideas of other countries.

In addition to learning basics, Mrs. Inman's Spanish classes read Don Quixote.

From dictation to dictators

In business classes, students learned successfully to take dictation. Business students also learn to type and to operate adding, transcribing, calculating, and duplicating machines. Several students gained practical experience by typing for teachers and working in the office.

Besides learning such social studies topics as cities and dictators, from a book, students also learned by discussing current events, inventing games, and talking to government officials.

Mrs. Steiner's government students met government officials Elwood Hillis, Alan Zirkle, Harry Foreman, and Larry Conrad. Students played "History Password" and debated on foreign policy. The mock convention was the biggest undertaking of the social studies department.

The social studies department took advantage of a major election year by staging a mock Democratic National Convention.

For two weeks, students were subjected to propoganda and "paid political announcements." On convention night, the gym became National Democratic Convention Hall. State delegates heard nominating speeches, staged demonstrations, and cast their votes. With much contesting and changing of votes, it took three ballots to determine Ted Kennedy the winner.

In the Intermediate Science Curriculum Studies Program (I.S.C.S.), students learned through investigation.

Among the experiences of the various high school science courses, the student may encounter disecting frogs in biology, balancing equations in chemistry, injecting chicks in Experimental Design, and "making waves," (wavelengths) in ripple tanks in physics.

Art experiences add creative expression

Art classes provided an opportunity for students to creatively express themselves. Art students not only worked on individual projects; they also studied the history and origin of art.

Freshman art student Pat Thompson received honorable mention for an ink drawing that he entered in the L. S. Ayres Scholastic Art Competition at Indianapolis.

Greg King, Dale Babb, Charlie Polston, and Keith Kelser won art scholarships to Ball State, where they studied with art instructors at a one week workshop.

Helio staff tries new ideas

"Charley Wolf, get out of the waste basket!" "Jana Mowrey, by the time you and Mrs. Fligor get done editing my copy, I won't have any left!" "Are you jiving me! My deadline was two weeks ago?"

These were the cries of Helio staffers as they struggled to put the '71-'72 Helio together. Eleven of the fifteen staff members were new and inexperinced.

Bob Flint and Jana Mowrey spent two weeks at I.U. Bloomington studying photography and copy writing and the staff attended seminars at Notre Dame and Haworth.

The staff spent the first semester campaigning, selling Helios selling and collecting for ads, and planning the book.

After Christmas vacation, layouts, copy, and photos gave editors big headaches as they rushed to finish their sections before deadlines.

At the end of the year, the staffers proudly celebrated the completion of the Helio with a "fun" party.

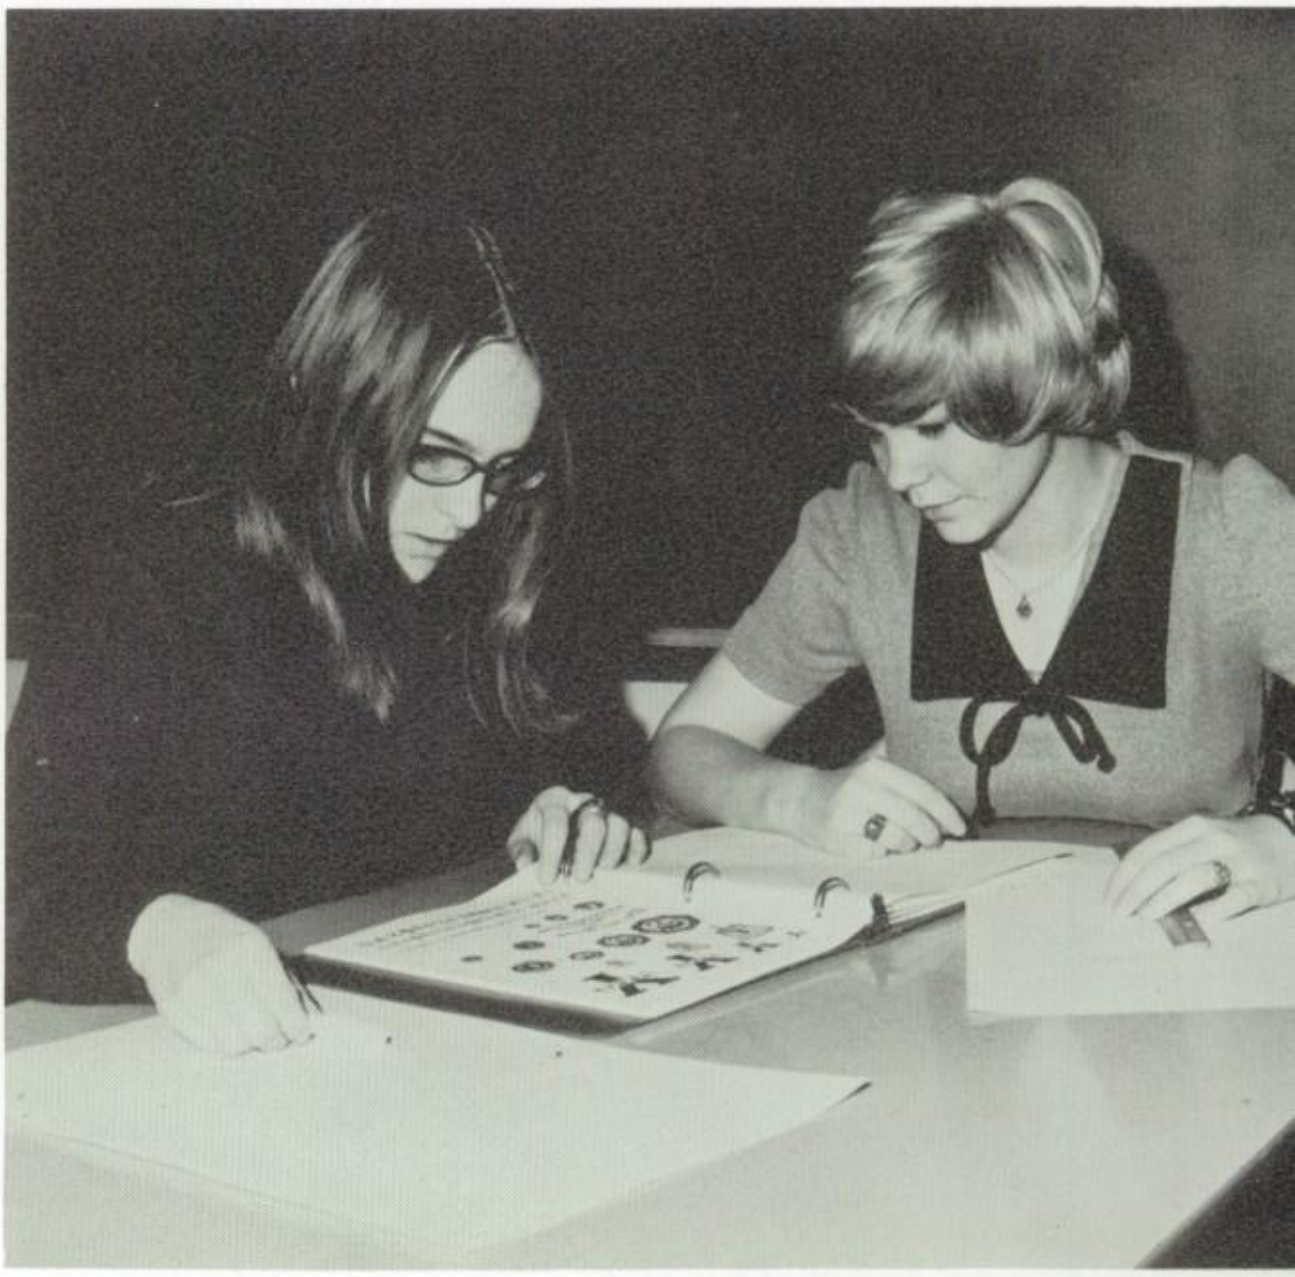
Onlooker prints new specials

People who bought Onlookers enjoyed such "silly" questions as "If you could be one of Santa's reindeer, who would you be, and why?"

The Onlooker staff tried many new ideas in the school paper. New equipment enabled them to take more and better pictures. The staff published the paper almost every two weeks and produced five special editions: a Christmas edition, a senior edition, Foreign Exchange, and two new issues: a Valentine's edition in red ink and a sectional edition with stories about the county teams.

The Onlooker featured several new articles this year. Jeff Kirk wrote the Music "Seen," a column on the top groups and popular records. The paper also featured crazy poems, nose jokes, editorials, and sports stories.



Veteran staffers Zona Wells and Jennifer Wood work on layouts for their pages of the paper.

Health Careers members also went on several field trips. They toured the new mental health care wing at Howard Community Hospital. Along with other interested high school students, they made a trip to Eli Lilly in Indianapolis. Club officers attended a meeting at Purdue.

Members also listened to guest speakers from the Veterans Hospital in Marion. The chief psychiatrist and a registered nurse from the hospital spoke to the club about mental health.

"The Curse of an Aching Heart" a sellout

With assistance from Mrs. Boardman, the Thespians put on two plays, Stranger in the Night, a mystery-comedy, and "The Curse of an Aching Heart," a melodrama. The latter attracted more people than any previous Taylor play.

Club apprentices gained points by working on costumes, tickets, and other committees for plays. They had to earn one hundred hours to be a Thespian. Eleven apprentices became Thespians at an initiation in May. Thespians voted Becky Clark best actress, Matt Johnston best actor, Debbie Clark best supporting actress, Ken Helton best supporting actor, and Mark Jennings best Thespian.

Main Objective: Foreign Exchange

Collecting money for foreign exchange was the goal of language clubs. They gave aid to four of seven exchange students.

To raise money, the clubs sponsored car washes and cleaned up the student lounge. French and Spanish students donated money in class for the fund.

Besides working, the language clubs still had fun.

The French club celebrated Christmas with a pitch-in dinner in the home-ec room. Everyone played "crazy" games and went home with leftovers.

The Spanish club held their Christmas party at Jenny Bogue's home. Guests enjoyed Spanish food and watched football on T.V.

Music, marching liven up ball games

Pep Band, Taylorettes, and Titan Twirlers gave up lots of free time to learn routines to entertain crowds at ball games.

Pep Band members stayed after school to learn songs. Student directors Mike Baer and Kathy Lynch picked songs and directed rehearsals. At games, Pep Band worked hard to be heard over noisy crowds and held the spirit high by playing cheers like "Eat 'Em Up!"

The Pom Pom girls and twirlers took lessons once a week from Mrs. Daniels. The girls often learned a halftime show one or two days before performing so they did some hectic practicing. They performed at games, fish fries, and concerts. The pom pom girls did the Charleston and the Can-Can; the twirlers used two batons and flags.

School Spirit reached the highest peak in Taylor's short history. The basketball team won their first Howard County Tourney in December. This jolted the students and faculty into becoming aware of the great work the Titans had done.

Cheerblock contributed to school spirit by working on new yells and posters. Everyone could tell after a game who the cheerblock members were because of hoarse voices!

T-Club, too, boosted team morale. They attended many football games and Pacer's basketball games.

In addition, the junior enthusiasts started the U.B.C. (Underground Booster Club). They provided fan buses to the away games.

Not only Cheerblock and T-Club yell! The entire gym fills with enthusiasm when the Titans are on the floor.

Band, choir, "rock" Taylor

"Rank 101, number 107—Get in line!" Band members often heard similar "commands" when Mr. Daniels was teaching them a new halftime show. It wasn't easy keeping in step, remembering what yard line you were on, watching the drum majorette, and playing an instrument at the same time, but the Taylor High School Marching Band did all this at six football games in the fall.

After football season, the band worked on music for fish fries, the Christmas convo, and a spring concert at Havens Auditorium. They learned rock songs like "Joy to the World," novelty songs like "Can Can," and more sophisticated music like "The Marriage of Figaro."

Besides singing classical music, the choir sang show tunes from Carousel and Man of La Mancha, and pop favorites like "For All We Know," "Joy to the World," and "Theme From Love Story."

Choir members directed the choir in class and at concerts. Sherry Wooley finished her fourth year as accompanist.

The choir gave concerts for several organizations, and performed in the spring concert at Havens. At the end of the year, they enjoyed a picnic at Highland Park.

"Snoopy's Christmas" comes alive for junior high

The Junior High Choir put on a spectacular Christmas special. The eighth grade choir sang songs like "What Child is This" and "Snoopy's Christmas." The crowd was surprised by a visit from "Snoopy" Tim England. The seventh grade entertainment included songs "The Little Drummer Boy" and "The Marvelous Toy." Both the Junior high band and choir gained much experience.

The main activity of the high school Student Council was Foreign Exchange. The Student Council sponsored Foreign Exchange Week to raise money for this program. Council members started early by selling "stocks," and on Monday of Exchange Week, they held a convo in which former exchange students Susie Grant and Mike Baer showed slides of France and Peru. All week classes competed by seeing which class could collect the most money. The eighth grade won the competition with a total of $90.40. On Friday foreign exchange students from different schools in Indiana attended a convocation and visited classes. Each Student Council member served as a guide and took his exchange student to the sock hop Friday night. The Backlash provided free music, and eighth graders were admitted free. All money from the dance plus other funds were distributed to foreign exchange students Jana Mowrey, Clarinda Sparks, Debbie Carter, and Cathy Buchholz.

Student Council also sponsored the Homecoming dance and sold Entertainment books.

Junior High Student Council started something new, the "Whatchamacallit." The Council provided entertainment for everybody, including a fortune telling booth, a tug of war, dart throwing at balloons, and records for dancing. The party was a big success in getting attendance and raising money. The proceeds from the party went for an educational game for Mrs. Sager's class.

PEOPLE

"We finally made it!"

After twelve years of preparation, the seniors finally made graduation and began plans which would influence them for the rest of their lives.

The Senior Fling was held at the YWCA from 10:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m. The seniors sponsored the Christmas Dance which was held in the Cafeteria. The crowning of Sherry Wooley as Miss Titan highlighted the evening.

The seniors also operated concessions at football games. This helped make money for the many class activities.

A former tradition was to leave a gift to the school. With the money made from the many class projects, the senior class chose to donate $1,500 to the Pembroke Center for Exceptional Children to help construct better facilities.

Semester tests, senior week halt school ties

The end of 12 years of work came to a halt during the week of May 15th. After two days of semester tests, studying came to an end.

Wednesday was the senior breakfast and also time to sell books and clean out cluttered lockers. At 1:30 the Honors Day program was held in the gymnasium. Each student was given a congratulations certificate from Elwood Hillis, Representative to Congress.

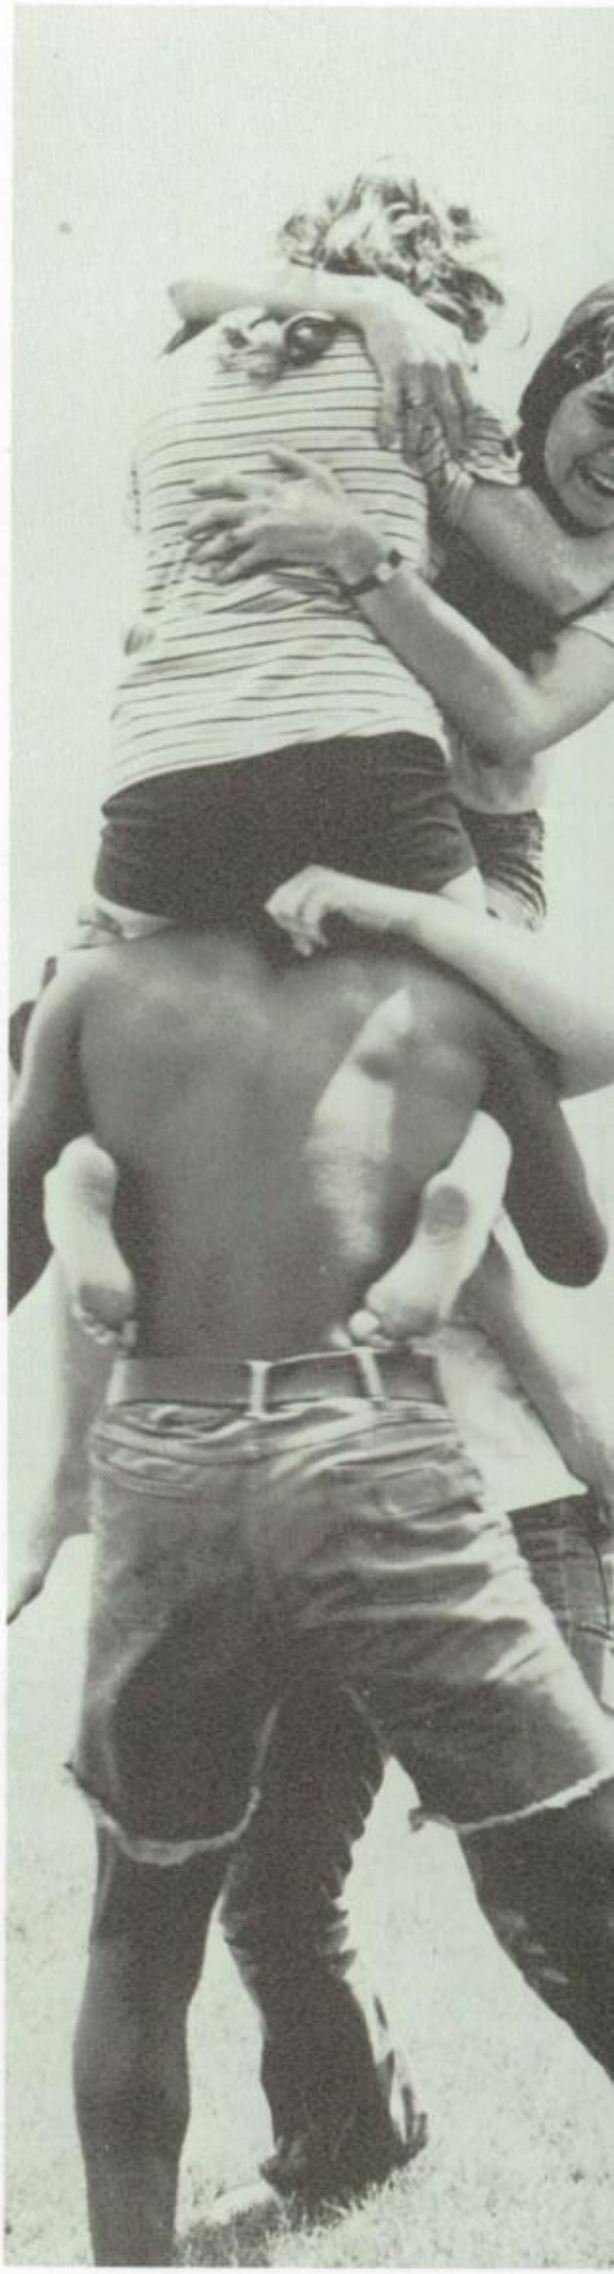
Thursday was the senior "play day" at Stellite Park. Many seniors played football; some rode motorcycles; others just "messed around."

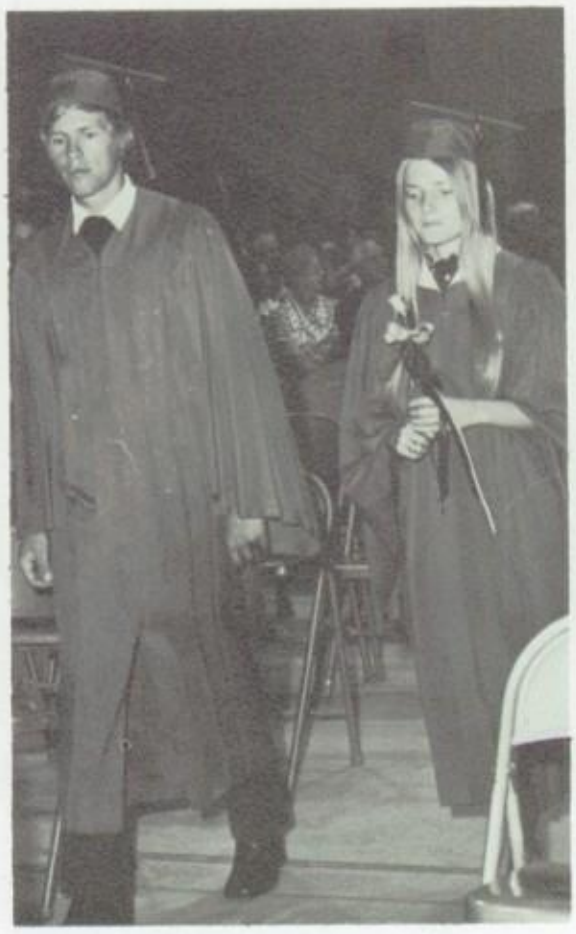
Sunday brought graduation. Valedictorian Susie Grant and Salutatorian Mike Baer gave speeches. Reverend Arvin C. Oldsen, a well known author and minister, gave the graduation address.

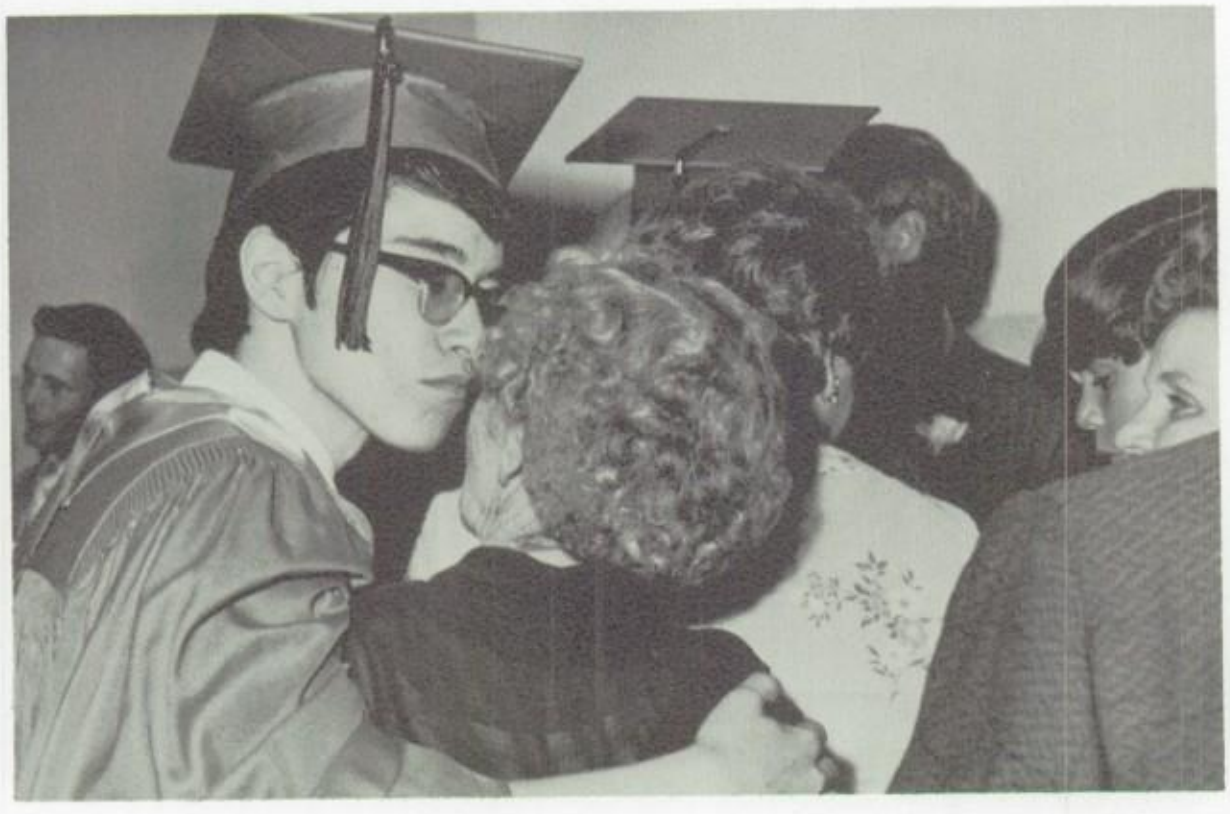
Mr. Britton presented the graduates to the audience. After diplomas were distributed, tassels were turned.

After the benediction by Father Thomas Zimmer and the recessional by the high school band, graduates gathered in the lobby to congratulate their friends and greet their families.

The senior fling, held at the YWCA from 10:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m., was the final gathering for the senior class of 1972.







Juniors boost school spirit

A busy year for the class of '73 began when they beat the seniors in the powderpuff football game. Then the juniors set out to boost school spirit by forming the Underground Booster Club, U.B.C. The U.B.C. obtained fan buses for away games and contributed to games by making up original yells.

Another "highlight" of the year was the Scholastic Aptitude Test, set off by a junior breakfast at The Golden Bear. The day ended with a softball game at the park.

The main and most exciting event was the Junior-Senior Reception. "Camelot" was chosen as the theme with a background of purple and gold. Couples danced to the music of "The Wild Cherry," eyed the girls' gowns and guys' tuxedos, and commented on the decoration.

The juniors' year ended with a mystery gathering for a picnic and games. They could be heard throughout the park yelling "We finally made seniors!"

a/Officers Sec. C. Munerol, sponsors D. Devore, S. Cronk, V. Pres. M. Johnston, and Pres. S. Martelli helped plan the Junior-Senior Reception. b/Couples enjoy music.

'74 classmen choose class rings

The sophomores began early in the fall backing the school by building a homecoming float. After they finished their float, the sophomores jumped right in making plans for the Black Cat Ball. The "Back Lash" furnished the music and the sophomore girls made the refreshments. The next sophomore project was ordering class rings and jackets; they chose red and black as their colors. This proved to be a busy and exciting year for the class of '74.

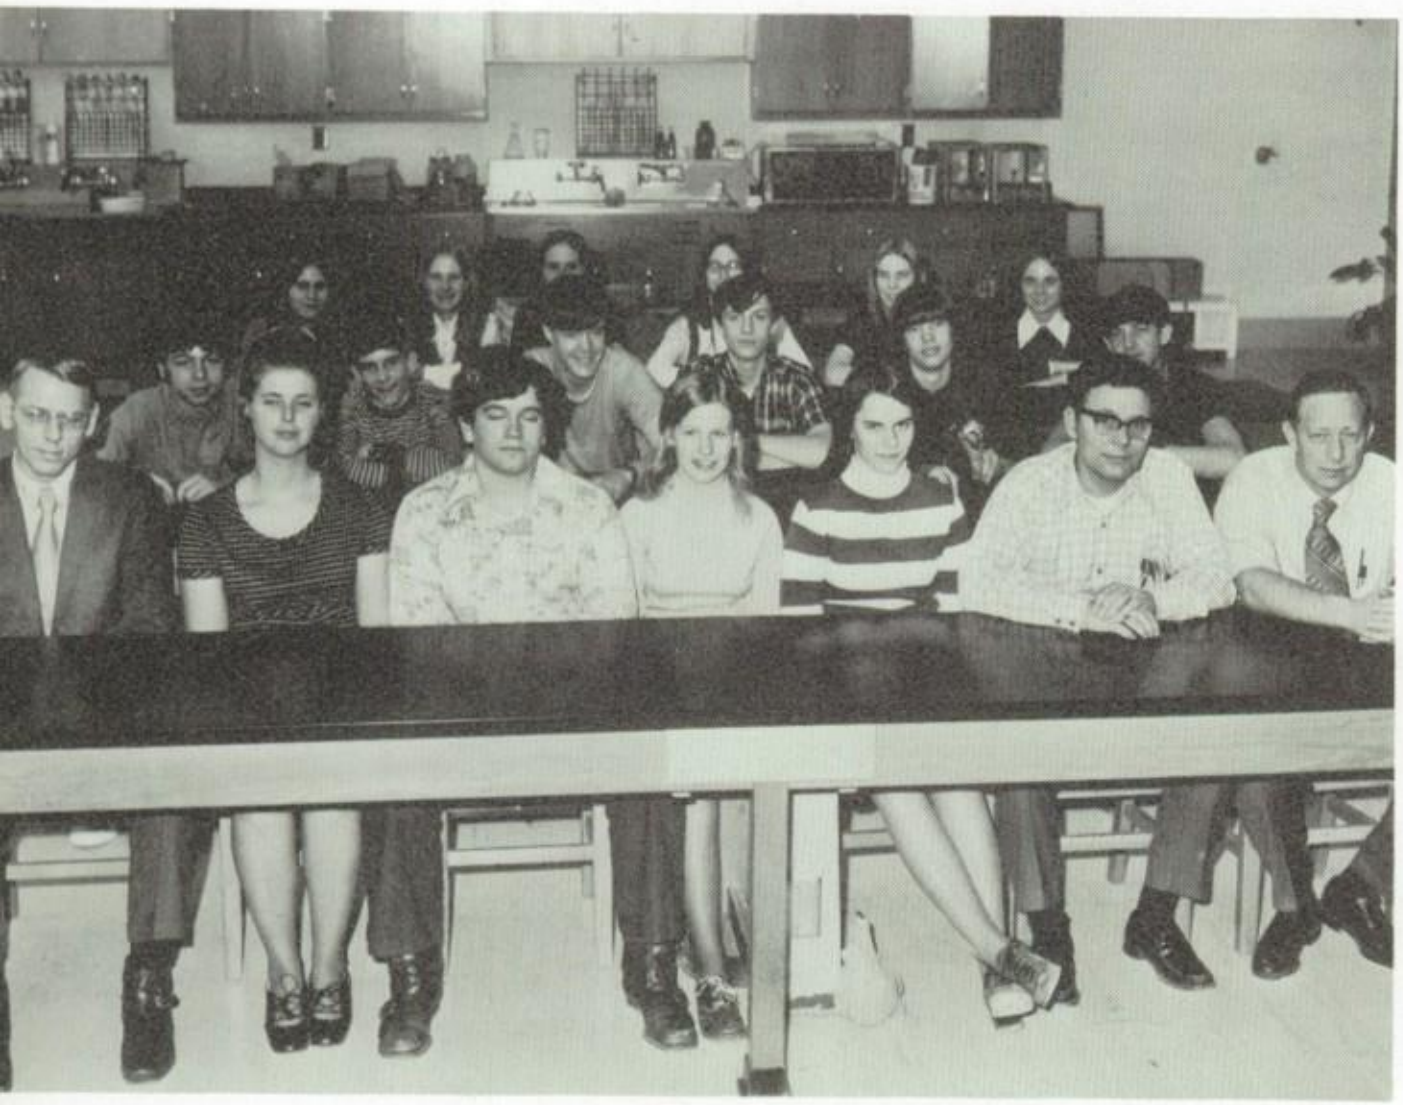
Freshmen get Involved



Hesitantly, the freshman class entered the "hustling and bustling" of high school life. Joining into the activity scene, they became active members of clubs, sports, and pep sessions. To help back their class and school, they attended football games, basketball games, and made spirit posters. By combining their skills and talents, the freshmen captured first place in the homecoming float competition. Thinking of the future, the freshmen sponsored a girls' basketball tourney to earn extra money for class projects.

8th graders have vigorous year

This year proved to be a very successful year for the class of '76. They started their class treasury and attended an activity called the Whatchamacallit.

The eighth grade was very active in athletics this year. The wrestling team was formed with Mr. Bond as coach. The team had a winning season of 3-1.

The class of '76 hopes to do as well next year as they have this year by participation in even more activities than before.

It takes many people to put a Helio together. I appreciate the full co-operation of the administrators, teachers, and students. I'd also like to give special thanks to those people who have devoted long hours to making what we hope will be a very special book: to Mr. Larry Glaze from Paragon Press, to Mr. Ted Hitz from Adams-Hitz Studio, and last and most important of all, to the '72 Helio staff and Mrs. Kit Fligor, our advisor.
